Job Number

6

Location

El Cerrito

Client

Mr. and Mrs. Skeptic

History:

This happy couple bought this house for a steal, knowing full well that the previous occupant died here. Furthermore, the previous owner was rumored to be into all sorts of dark magic and mystic mumbo-jumbo. The client claims that on certain nights, he hears a bird-cry that sounds like a raven. When he goes to investigate, he finds his backyard has transformed into a graveyard. He heard the cry tonight, so let's go investigate.

Notes:

Start by searching the graveyard in the backyard. After you have successfully decoded the message, knock on the door and the resident will give you another haunted artifact. As with most-resident haunts, it is expected to find separate haunted items at one location
